

Recommended Reading:

- "A Hundred Giants: The French Huguenot Experience Florida: 1562-1565", by Gaëtan Algoet, T.L. Armstrong, and Dr. Robert H. Baer
- "God's Protecting Providence; Being the Narrative of a Journey from Port Royal in Jamaica to Philadelphia, August 23, 1696 to April 1, 1697", by Jonathan Dickinson
- NEW! "Jonathan Dickinson's Journal or God's Protecting Providence, An Early American Castaway Narrative," edited by Amy Turner Bushnell and Jason Daniels, with a contribution by Jerald T. Milanich
- "Florida's Indians from Ancient Times to the Present", by Dr. Jerald T. Milanich
- "Discovering Florida: First-Contact Narratives from Spanish Expeditions Along the Lower Gulf Coast", by John Worth

To learn more about Florida's Indian Heritage and Florida's various indigenous sites, visit

<https://www.trailoffloridasindianheritage.org/>

Special thanks to Rick Piper and Brent Russell, President and Vice President of Ais Village Trail and to AVT lead Archaeologist, Alan Brech.

Thanks to FHS Archivist Holly Baker for finding a version of the 1605 map and to Brevard librarian, Tammy Moon, for finding modern versions of the same map.

To Theodore Morris click here and Rick Piper click here for their original art work, Florida's Lost Tribes and Rick's vision of 8BR1936.